

TOWN COUNCIL TO INSTALL GAS IN ALL MUNICIPAL BLDGS.

SUPT. DOUS APPOINTED GAS INSPECTOR
Caspool Nunnance To Be Abated By Having Work Done At Night
Under Contract.

The following are the minutes of a Special Meeting of the Wainwright Town Council held in the Council Chamber on Thursday last when Mayor Cook and a full Council were present.

The Secretary read the notice calling the meeting, which was for the purpose of considering a By-law re: Regulating and Governing the Installation for Natural Gas and the material to be used; and if necessary the appointment of an inspector.

To consider the prices submitted for the installation in the power house and town buildings of the necessary piping for the use of natural gas and the town.

To receive the report from Public Works and Scavenging Committee re: Cesspools.

The Committee on Public Works and Scavenging submitted their report, which was as follows: That your committee have arranged with Mr. Libby to have the cesspools attended to at night at the rate of Eighty-five dollars ($85.00) per month. This amount to cover the necessary work to keep the cesspools emptied and in a thorough state of cleanliness. As required by either the owners of cesspools or the town.

As the above amount is more than the income realized from fees collected from the owners of cesspools it will be necessary for the town to pay out the difference.

Teamsters will keep an accurate account of the number of tanks taken out of each place, each night, and turn the list in to the secretary's office at least once a week. Owners of cesspools will make payment to the town as heretofore.

The present town wagon, gear and sleighs to be used by Mr. Libby and will be kept in good state of repair during the time that he is on this work.

Knowles-Forster: That the report of the Public Works and Scavenging Committee be adopted.—Carried.

The committee on Electric Utility having met previously and considered fully the quotations from the several different firms, reported to Council, recommending that the offer of the P. Burns Co. Ltd., for twelve second-hand Gwynne burners be accepted at a price of $15.00 each F.O.B. Calgary, providing that a guarantee is given as to efficiency.

Knowles-Forster: That the report from the Electric Utility be accepted.—Carried.

Davidson-Telford: That the Electric Utility committee be empowered to draw up specifications re: installation of burners at power house and residences for piping from main to boilers, and have this work done at the earliest time.—Carried.

Knowles-Forster: That the Public Works committee be empowered to submit specifications and accept and carry out tenders as required for ditching from main gas line to and through into the fire hall building piping to and from meter to furnace installation of necessary burners in furnace together with piping to the office of the Secretary, Treasurer, Council Chamber and the office occupied by the Municipal District of Gilt Edge.—Carried.

Telford-Lissimore: That leave be granted to introduce a By-law No. 157 being a By-law regulating and governing the installation of natural gas within the Town of Wainwright and to fix and determine the several materials to be used.—Carried.

By-law No. 157 was then introduced and given two readings, and read: That the Town of Wainwright do pass, its title to be as in the Original notice that it come into force and effect forthwith after the passing of the same, and that the necessary signatures of the Mayor and Secretary be attached thereto.—Carried Unanimously.

By-law No. 157 was then given its Third reading and declared by the Mayor as passed.

Davidson-Welch: That John Dous be appointed Gas installation inspector, his fees to be the rate as specified in the By-law.

Moved in amendment by Knowles-Forster: That the motion, re: appointment of Gas installation inspector be amended to read, that Mr. W. Brunk

ANOTHER PLEASANT WHIST PARTY BY C.N.R. CLUB

Continuing their winter programme of whist drives, the C.N.R. held a pleasant gathering in their clubroom when eighteen tables were in play. The prizes which were distributed during the supper hour went to the following:

Ladies—Mrs. Pickard, 1; Mrs. F. Lissimore, 2; and Mrs. Nordstrom, 3. Gents—Messrs J. Dawson, 1; A. Lilly, 2; and F. Adamson, 3.

MEWASIN OILS TAKES OVER EMERALD & B.P. NO. 4 WELLS

Official confirmation was now given that Mewasin Oil Limited has entered into contracts whereby that company takes over the Emerald well and British Petroleum No. 4 in the Wainwright field on a royalty basis and agrees to drill both wells into the deeper structures where it is hoped to strike a larger flow of oil of higher gravity than that obtained from the present producing sands.

As a result of the above arrangement Mewasin Oils is now in an exceptionally strong position and is practically starting operations at the point where other concerns have left off. With a capitalization of only $300,000 the company has one producing well said to yield 100 barrels of oil a day and a second hole drilled to 2,269 feet and cased to 2,249 feet.

In addition to the above Mewasin Oils has options on leases adjoining both the above wells and owns 40 acres immediately next to the Emerald well.

Mewasin Oils is financed by local and Winnipeg capital and originally planned to drill on its own holdings L.S.D. 7, section 30-45-6, which immediately adjoins the Emerald well site.

F. W. Pace, of Winnipeg, is president of the company and Ralph H. Dous, of Edmonton is managing director.

Under the terms of the new agreement, the company took over the Emerald well at a depth of 2,269 feet with casing set at 2,249 feet and B.P. No. 4 at 2,236 feet. The B.P. well produced oil steadily during several months of last year when the oil was delivered to the C.N.R. for fuel purposes and this well is classed among the four best producers of the field.

ARMISTICE DAY TO BY OBSERVED BY LOCAL VETERANS

On Sunday, November 7th, the local G.W.V.A. will celebrate Armistice Day with a church service held in the Elite theatre.

This is to be held at 3 p.m. and Co. C. V. Weaver, M.L.A., D.S.O. will be the principal speaker, assisted by the clergymen from all the local churches.

The choir of the United Church will lead in the singing, and Mrs. Hudson is billed to give a sacred solo while instrumental numbers will be played by Mrs. G. Pybus and Mr. A. Adams.

At the close of the religious service, all the returned men will march to the memorial clock tower, where wreaths and other floral tributes will be placed in memory of "Our Glorious Dead."

All veterans of the neighborhood are asked to parade at the Fire Hall later than 2:30 p.m. for the march to the service, and a goodly muster is looked for.

Cut this out for reference—Sunday Nov. 7th.

ACTIVITY REVIVED IN KING-DEL CY'S LOCAL OIL REFINERY

This week will see activity evincing in the workings of the new King-Delelly Refinery Co. inasmuch as this company now have completed all the necessary arrangements to go right ahead with the project.

Mr. George Bonage, of Amarillo, Tex., is to be appointed inspector at the prescribed rate.

The amendment was lost, Council Knowles and Forster voting "Yes" and Councils Davidson, Lissimore, Telford and Welch voting "No."

The Original Motion was then put to the vote, Councils Knowles, Forster and Telford voting "Yes" and Councils Davidson, Lissimore, Telford and Welch voting "No."

The Council then adjourned.

IMPERIAL COMPANY SEEKS NEW SUPPLY FOR REFINERY USE

According to a report in the Montana Oil Journal, the Imperial Oil Ltd., a subsidiary of the Standard of New Jersey, is preparing to utilize Montana crude oil in its 5000 barrel refinery at Regina, Sask.

Imperial is expending $500,000 in making improvements which will make it possible to handle Kevin-Sunburst crude. Its contract for Salt Creek and other Wyoming crude under an exchange arrangement between two major companies, will expire on or about January 1, and Imperial expects at that time, it is understood, to begin using Kevin-Sunburst crude. Wyoming crude costs more and has to be hauled across Montana and through Kevin-Sunburst field en route to Regina.

Imperial has perfected a process for handling this crude in its plant at Calgary. By the utilization of it, a day after the Regina plant would be 72 gravity. It is able to blend the Kevin-Sunburst product in such a manner that it makes a very high recovery of excellent quality.

Storage at the Regina refinery has been filled with Kevin-Sunburst crude during the past summer, but only recently did it become known that Imperial was preparing to change its plant over. The Imperial is now taking between 3000 and 4000 barrels of crude a day from Ohio Oil Co. It is understood that these shipments will be increased to 5000 to 6000 barrels a day after the Regina plant improvements are completed.

The extensive development campaign of the Carter Oil Co. in Kevin-Sunburst field is said to be necessitated by the demands of Imperial for a larger crude supply.

MORE ROADLEY-ITES SLATED FOR MANY ALBERTA FARMERS

So successful has been the plan of training British boys in the agricultural schools of the province, instituted by Hon. Geo. Howard, that more of them are coming this year. It is expected that between 65 and 75 of the boys will be distributed among the three agricultural schools at Olds, Claresholm and Raymond this year.

Twelve of these boys are now on the way, and the balance will follow shortly. The responsibility for the placing of these boys on farms following their five months training will be taken over by the Dominion Government, next spring this having been done hitherto by the Provincial Government. The boys come to Canada under the assisted passage scheme of the British Government, and in addition to their training during the coming term, the Provincial Government is arranging to have the boys spend each week on some farms in the vicinity of the schools during their course of training.

Big Oil Interests Here

Officials and stockholders in International Oils of Delaware Limited, and its Canadian subsidiary, International Oils of Alberta Limited, which companies hold 34,000 acres of oil leases on the eastern shores of Lesser Slave Lake, where their well No. 1 is now down over 1,100 feet, are making a personal visit to the property.

The party is headed by Frank R. Poss, New York financial man, who is president of International Oils of Alberta, Limited, and it includes Frank D. Craig of New York, recently-appointed president of International Oils Limited of Delaware.

Homestead Areas Filled On

Nearly 200,000 acres of homestead land have been taken up by new settlers in the dominion lands area covered by the Edmonton agency in the nine months since the beginning of the year. The total filings were 1,240 including soldiers' grants, as compared with 741 filings for the same period in the previous year.

Texas, arrived this week, and this gentleman will be the consultant manager for the concern headed by Mr. J. Wraether (who holds the patents of the stills to be erected).

We understand that some time this week a meeting of the different heads connected with the concern is to be held, and that next week's Star will contain some news of great interest for the shareholders of the company and indeed for all our townspeople in general.

THANKSGIVING AND ARMISTICE DAY ON NOV. 8

Thanksgiving and Armistice day will be observed on Monday, November 8. The recent statute fixes this joint celebration on the Monday of the week in which November 11 occurs.

But a special observance has been requested for the actual day of Armistice. Hon. James A. Robb, acting prime minister, stated today that in accordance with the arrangements for Armistice day, sanctioned by his majesty the king, the people of Canada are invited to mark the occasion by two minutes of silence at 11 o'clock, Thursday morning, November 11. This is a special observance suggested by his majesty and is in addition to the regular holiday recognized by the parliament of Canada for the Monday previous.

VALE M. C. COUN. GRANT RELIEF TO ACCIDENT VICTIM

A regular meeting of the Council of the Municipal District of Vale No. 302 was held in the Municipal Office on Saturday evening, October 16th, with Reeve Jackson in the chair and on motion of Councillor Wahlstrom the minutes of the meeting of September 18th, were adopted.

The Council received a very complete report from Councillors Belton and Martell regarding Mr. C. McPeak who was seriously injured, being partially paralyzed, in an accident about two and a half years ago and on motion of Councillor Martell it was decided to give a grant of $50.00 per month to apply on the salary of a trade helper.

On motion of Councillor Belton it was decided to pay the Canadian Pacific Railway Company the sum of $68.00 for four acres of land taken from the N-5 25-41-5-4 for road purposes.

On motion of the Reeve, the letter from Mrs. Evans which was tabled from the previous meeting was again held over.

On motion of Councillor Belton accounts amounting to $140.60 were accepted and ordered paid.

On motion of the Reeve, Councillor Belton was re-appointed deputy Reeve for the ensuing term. On motion of the Reeve, an additional grant for road purposes was given to Div. 6, Councillors Scott and Sargeant opposed.

On motion of Councillor Belton the secretary was given permission to be absent during the first meeting in November, the office to be closed.

On motion of the Reeve the meeting then adjourned until Nov. 20th.

Wheat Pool Final Payment

Alberta members of the wheat pool have been paid their final payment during the past week. This brings the total payment to them on the 1925 wheat crop to $142.25 cents, basis Vancouver, allowing for all deductions for pool purposes. The Alberta pool handled more than 45,000,000 bushels of the 1925 crop, compared with 23,000,000 bushels of the 1924 crop.

WEDDING BELLS

The nuptials of the wedding of a popular local couple last July has just leaked out and they are now receiving the congratulations and good wishes of a host of friends.

On July 4th while taking in the Edmonton Exhibition Mr. Camille A. Dupre and Miss Rena Elizabeth Dupre decided to get married and forthwith located the office of the registrar of marriages and were there and there made man and wife. They decided to keep the affair a secret for awhile and so successful were they that it was not until last week that even their closest friends were told of the happy event.

The bride is the third daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Crummer who were among the early settlers of this district who have now passed beyond the happy event.

She is an accomplished and likable young lady. The groom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Dupre of Wainwright and since early this spring has been agent for the Chevrolet branch of the General Motors at Viking. He is a hustling young man and is making good as a salesman.

They have gone to housekeeping in the former Arfidge residence and will make their home here—Viking.

The Star joins with the community in extending congratulations.

NATURAL GAS NOW RAPIDLY NEARING DOMESTIC USING

The gap is rapidly closing up between the end of the mains where the welders are still busy and the Maple Leaf well from whence the supply of natural gas for the town will be obtained. Probably another week will see this hooked up.

The high-pressure main will then be tested for service, and the pipes filled with gas immediately after. The regulating station is being installed just as soon as the instruments, etc. get here. They are expected this week end.

The mains around town are now about complete, with the exception of one or two cut-ins, and a gang of men is busy on these right now, so that the whole clean-up of the work will be practically simultaneous.

It therefore behoves the citizens to hurry in with their meter applications at once, so that just as soon as the Council (S.T. and a gang of men) is in a position to use this meter fuel, applications can be signed at the Gas Co. office or at The Star office, and each of these applications must be accompanied by the sum of seven dollars by way of meter deposit.

Of this course is returnable upon demand for removal or relinquishing the service from their cause.

With regard to inspections, users must make application to the secretary of the town for inspection of their fittings inside the premises and upon payment of the fee set by the Council ($1.00) and a permit will be issued if all is found to be O.K.

For these reasons, therefore, we advise early attention to all these matters, so that disappointment may be avoided, and so that full advantage may be taken of the new commodity without undue delay.

YET RECOMMENDS DEEPER DRILLING IN WAINWRIGHT FIELD

Deep drilling at Wainwright is proposed by Mr. Miller, geologist, of Vancouver, B.C., whose contributions to "Oil News" have not only been familiar, and who has been spending some time recently in the local oil fields.

He holds the view that present drilling is but an initial experiment and at $500 to $800 feet the real source of production is likely to be met with.

His drilling experiences of the past twenty years have taught us that all the oil occurrences in the Western Provinces of the Dominion are suspiciously associated with the underlying Paleozoic limestone floors," says Mr. Miller.

"These floors have been determined at Falyan and Wainwright at a depth of from 2,000 to 2,300 feet. Further south, at Fusilier, Czar, and Moose Jaw, these floors drop away some 800 to 1,000 feet lower, while to the north and east, within the compass of the Geanticline, the height is maintained in somewhat undulating fashion. Were it not that nature has handicapped the situation with a blanket of Cretaceous sediments some 2,000 feet thick, oil enterprises here would undoubtedly be analogous to those in Pennsylvania, which commenced drilling directly into limestone. That State produced some 200,000,000 barrels of oil at depths running from eight feet to 2,000 feet in the limestone.

"What really will 2,000 feet in Wainwright limestone give? It has never been tried. All our geologists' entreaties have confined themselves to the Cretaceous surfaces, which are not more than a trouble-making blanket. Surely the Paleozoic rocks which from the 49th parallel have everywhere given evidence of their importance, are worthy of more respect. Notwithstanding the initial stages of drilling at Wainwright, several wells are in production there sufficient to provide revenue for further exploration at maturer depths.

"I have visited all the wells there and from what I saw these are all grouped, and what applies to one applies to all. That the field is an enormous one with possibilities inconceivable cannot be gainsaid by any one with the crudest knowledge of petroleum geology."

The problem of transportation of crude, which is one of the most vital factors now facing operators in the Wainwright field, may be overcome in the near future as a result of the recent organization of the Plateau Oil Company, a concern holding a franchise to construct a pipe line from the producing area to the railroad, refineries in the district.

Y.P.S. OF UNITED CHURCH OPEN SEASON

On Monday evening the Young People's society of the United Church celebrated the opening of the winter season by a social in the church. A goodly crowd was present, and all had a merry time in games and contests. During the evening Mr. R. Gish sang a couple of solos, and Mr. Pybus and Mr. A. Adams gave an instrumental violin and piano number. Refreshments were served at the close.

THRILLS A-PLenty IN VALENTINO STAR FILM--'THE EAGLE'

Entertainment is stressed in "The Eagle" Rudolph Valentino's latest picture which will open at the theatre Friday and Saturday. This Clarence Brown production for United Artists Corporation release is said to abound in thrills, comedy and romance. Reports from Hollywood state that Valentino has turned out a picture that is decidedly different from his recent successes and one that rivals his "Four Horsemen" in amusement.

The romantic star is seen for the first time as a Russian—in garb more picturesque than any he has previously worn. His first appearance is as a Cossack lieutenant, seen as the band who became known as the Eagle before the start of his swift, mysterious movements.

The star is supported by a large and distinguished cast, including Vilma Banky, the Hungarian blonde whose beauty and ability have caused even blue Hollywood to gasp; and Louis Draper, for many years a star of musical comedy.

Valentino is quoted as saying that Clarence Brown, his new director, is the best he has ever had. Brown has been going from one triumph to another recently, having directed such successes as "Smouldering Fires," "The Great Zerkow," and "The Acquittal."

The action of the story takes place in Imperial Russia before the revolution. The romance starts in a brilliant royal setting and then goes to the Russian countryside. Hans Kraly, the screen play, basing it on "Tobrotsky," a classic of Russian literature by Alexander Pushkin, "the Shakespeare of Russia."

WAIN. FARMER TO SOON HAVE FULLY MODERN FARM HOME

As a sign of the times, and the go-aheadness of Mr. Wm. Hetherington who has farmed in the Aurnubale district for some years, the home which he is having built is sure proof of which he may be justly proud.

The erection will be fully modern in every respect, with heating system, electric light, and running water, and a big cement of water will store 100 barrels of soft water is being put up.

A pleasing feature is the fact that everything is being supplied by local merchants, too! Audrey Tory has charge of the construction using Atlas Lumber Co's material, Bill Brinkner is looking after the electrical requirements, Frank Fish is doing the plumbing, and the plastering is in the hands of Jack Taylor. Congratulations are due Mr. Hetherington on his enterprising spirit!

CONFIRMATION AT ST. THOMAS' CH. BY BISHOP LUCAS

The Rt. Rev. Bishop Lucas, D.D., formerly Bishop of Mackenzie River, will hold a confirmation service in St. Thomas' church (Ang.) on Tuesday afternoon next, November 2nd at four o'clock.

In the evening of the same day at eight o'clock the bishop will give a lecture, illustrated with lantern views on his life and work among the Indians and Eskimos of the Fair North. As his lordship spent so many years among the peoples of whom he will speak in his lecture, the evening should prove to be an interesting and profitable one, and everyone is invited to be present. There will be no charge for admission, but a silver collection will be taken up.

SAVE CHILDREN FROM DIPHTHERIA BY IMMUNIZATION

(Issued by Prov. Dept. of Health) Dr. Hugh Cumming, Surgeon General of the United States' Public Health Service, challenges all parents of the country to save their children from unnecessary diphtheria.

"Although diphtheria attacks persons of all ages," he says, "it is pre-eminently a disease of children, especially of children from one to six years of age. The disease is also much more apt to be fatal in young children so that prevention is especially important in the pre-school period."

About 57 per cent. of the deaths from diphtheria in the U.S. Registration Area are in children under 5 and 85 per cent. in children under 10 years of age.

With the advent of November, we are in one of the most dangerous seasons of the year, for during this month and December and January diphtheria takes its heaviest toll of health and life.

"In general," according to Dr. Cumming, diphtheria is more prevalent in the winter than in the summer, and the death rate is higher in cities than in the country. The well-to-do seem to suffer as much as do the children at the poor."

The study of the figures of Dr. Cumming shows since the year 1923 a real decline in this source of childhood. With 120,000 cases, however, and 10,500 deaths throughout the United States in 1924, there is need for everyone to see that his children are protected against diphtheria.

As long as diphtheria continues a real it is not only caused in a great deal of suffering to a great many children and heartbreak in thousands of families where the children die, but it is always in danger of assuming the proportions of a monstrous epidemic. We do not need to be reminded of the influenza which swept the country during 1918-1919, nor do we want to see any disease that can readily be wiped out, sweep in similar fashion through the ranks of childhood. Diphtheria of the type we now know seems to have begun somewhere between the years of 1850 and 1860 and after that time it spread over the entire civilized world.

"In the United States," says Dr. Cumming, summing up the history of the disease and thereby pointing out the menace we are averting, "following the invasion of the pandemic about 1855, diphtheria continued to be highly prevalent and very fatal until about 1900. Its course differed in different parts of the country; but in general, the mortality increased from about 1855 to 1885 or 1890, when the death rate reached as high as 200 per 100,000 or over in some of the large cities. Since about 1885 or 1890, the death-rate has steadily declined, due in part to a decrease in the number of cases, but more to a decreased case-fatality, which, since 1890 may be attributed in large part to the general use of antitoxin in treatment."

A cure is a miracle but prevention of a disease is as beautiful as a law of nature or of God. When every father and mother realizes that there need not be any diphtheria, diphtheria will cease to exist. The means are perfected to-day which will make your children safe from infection. If one of them should by any chance get diphtheria, the means are perfected for saving his life.

As Dr. Cumming phrases it: "There are three lines of attack for the control of diphtheria, namely: 1. Protection against exposure to virulent diphtheria germs. 2. Immunization by Toxoid of susceptible persons, so that if exposed, to the disease they will not contract it. 3. Curative treatment, chiefly by the administration of antitoxin."

"All three lines of attack must be followed for the most effective prevention."

Your own private physician or your local or Provincial board of health will give you any information and assistance you may need in your effort to protect your own children and the children of your community.

Where local boards of health or other organizations are forming clinics for the administration of Toxoid it is urged that they also offer vaccination against Smallpox. The two treatments can be advantageously combined.

There is no risk in combining the two prophylactics, such a procedure has become routine with officials of the Provincial Board.

Mr. Walter Campbell, of the Wainwright Gas Company, is in town from the city.

CHAPTER I

It was raining of course. There is no reputable word-of-mouth historical evidence that it ever did anything else
but rain France during the World War. Quite the contrary. Ask any ex-Doughboy. He will assure you, with a curious mixture of illuminated veracity and martyrdom twisting his lips whimsically, that in the Republic humorously affixed La Belle, nature itself imitates a certain German-American art. The art, that is, of the Pittsburg delirious impresario who can monumentally breed through one modus operandi no less than 57 varieties of pickle. So in the land that is of the D'Aragnan that was, the Weather-Man—or J. Pluvius, as he is irreverently called by American baseball fans, who are, perhaps, on more intimate terms with the gods than is any other human tribe—can go Monsieur Heine one better by expressing one kind of weather in 57 times 57 varieties, from a soaking fog to a cat-and-dogs downpour. Then the ex-Doughboy, whose fetish, traditionally is Truth, will further tell you (by this time he is reduced to tears) that if by any freak of supramundane phenomenon it was not raining rain—its equality as bad, if not worse, as, for instance, General Orders curtailing social intercourse with the Mademoiselles in your ville, Or Boche shells, or bombs from Fokkers, or staff officers on inspection tours, or that worst of all abominations—American M. P.s. Sometimes it rained all these afflictions, natural and military, at once.
At such times, Boche raiding parties with liquid flame throwers furnished welcome and delightful interludes.And so, again, it was raining, that night so typical of many other nights —blackrimmed, red-bowelled hell of rain and strafe and stench and rats and slop and mud and marrow-freezing tension along the trenches. The trouble was, in the case of Jimmy Ford, not only the drenching downpour of rain without—but the even more unendurable rain that was cascading down the ribs within his homesick and lovesick young breast. And that rain within was so desolating that it made him oblivious to the rain and danger without.All because of a letter. A letter from a girl—sweet chit of a girl back home. "Back home," to be precise in the case of Jimmy Ford, meant the old Chelsea section of New York City. That part of the metropolis made famous in the eyes of all men by a multitude of things; among them
the song "Elsie from Chelsea," long-shoremen's strikes, the Cunard and White Star docks, the brownstone fronts, and that notorious gang, the "Hudson Busters," who held undisputed fist-and-gun sway south of Hell's Kitchen. And made famous in the eyes of one man, Jimmy Ford, only by two things: that old-fashioned house on West Twenty-first street, between Eighth and Ninth avenues,
where his Mother and his Father,
Police Lieutenant James Ford, Sr.
lived; and that other three-story brownstone on West Twenty-second street, between Seventh and Eighth avenues, where his sweetheart, Ruth Allen, lived—in a two-room skylight suite, alone with her father, querulous cranky James Allen.Three things there were that had kept Jimmy Ford's head and heart and hopes in the clear blueness above the clouds while his feet squigged in the stinking mud of the West front trenches. First, the undying taste and feel on his lips of the last hot pressure of Ruth's face to his,
the warm briny sensation of war-pitched passion that, thwarted or deferred, reaches an innocent sensory climax in tears. Second, the ambition to strive for an appointment to "The Finest" upon his return—if he returned—and thus follow in the footsteps of his honored father, already a Lieutenant and a Medal of Honor member of the force. Third, his beloved letters from home—letters from his Mother,
from his father, and—from Ruth.
It was the last one from Ruth—the one that had reached him today just before his outfit had moved up for its rotation turn in the front line—that was the cause of his disconsola-tion. Ruth herself, perhaps, would be the most surprised person in the world if she knew the effect of the letter upon him. But it was Ruth's first was, as well as Jimmy's, so she lacked the experienced insight that a better knowledge of Kipling might have given her into the psychology of a young soldier's sentiments. Else she would never have been so innocently frank as to mention however casually, another Man.The letter, in Ruth's characteris-tically tender and longing vein, hadbeen full of many things—of Chelsea gossip, of off-pegged air-castles concerning The Day, of endarmata, of sweet little intimate nothings that were surely indited in tears and heart blood and not in ink. The paragraph about Daniel Murrigh was but passing and brief. Yet Jimmy's jealous eyes magnified it beyond all due proportion with regard to the text of the letter, so that it overshadowed everything else she had written therein. Thus it ran:"Murrigh, the politician, he that is known as 'Dan the Dude,' you know has been visiting us a good deal of late. He is very kind to father and has got him a job as watchman with the Chelsea State Bank, the one on the corner of Ninth and Twentieth,
where Millie Mulvaney lives upstairs.
Father says it's because he's interested in the bank."The continuation of this thrilling serial will appear next week.

Golden Cocoon

CONCLUDED

In the city one might delude oneself with work, friendship, quiet affection—a thousand inconsequent trifles. But here on her own ground where her roots struck deep, there was no self-deluding. She wanted life love; she wanted Greg. She wanted nothing else in the world. Nothing else would answer. He belonged to her—she to him. No stupid quibblings of pride, horror, expediency could change that. That other woman—what was she to him? When two people had belonged wholly to each other, body, mind, soul, something had been created out of that complete pos-sion; something eternal and indefeasible. That was marriage—the marriage of true minds. There was no other marriage.If only for a moment that bird would be still! She put her hands over her ears, but the wild and piercing madness would not be shut out.
It was like a cry, like a human cry insistent and fierce. It was like the cry of her soul to Greg, so fierce, so anguished, it seemed he must hear and understand. What were a few leagues more or less of land and water between two immortal souls?
She turned with a sharp, convul-sive movement. That cry, this odor of a thousand bloods—she could endure them no longer. She would go back. She would not wait even for the morning. She ought not to have come.At the entrance to the balcony a bell boy in uniform—blinking at her through the half darkness
"Gentleman to see you, miss," he mumbled and then took himself off.
There appeared presently in the archway a substantial square-built figure. On his light summer coat the moonlight showed a mooring band.
Molly stood frozen, incredulous. It was a trick of her overwrought senses. Greg was on his way to France. . . . She had asked a miracle, yet dared not trust its fulfillment.
It was Greg, but changed—how changed—broken and older—Greg whose face was never given to show what he felt. He stood there with his head bent a little, yet looking at her —waiting as if for her to give him permission to cross the threshold.
She tried to speak, to call his name,
but the syllable died on her lips.
There were less than half a dozen steps between them, yet moment after moment passed—other moments—and still they only went on looking at each other, so that it were the sole means of communication left between them. It was dreadful to see Greg like that—broken and older, his head bent.

"Greg, you did hear—you came."

She found words at last, took a step toward him.He put out his hands as if to ward her off. "You must hear first what I have to say." He indicated a rustic bench, but Molly moved back toward the iron railing, stood with her hands gripping it behind her."I see. . . . She was surprised herself to note how casual and matter-of-fact she sounded. "You've come to tell me that you do want your freedom, after all. But—she glanced down at him a little dazedly—how did you know I was here?""Myron Eldredge—I wired him."
"Oh!"
He came then and stood directly in front of her. But speech seemed more difficult for him than for her.
When other moments had passed in silence, she added: "You did think of a way, then I knew you would—you're so clever about such things."
He made an odd, half-finished gesture of negation. "Don't talk like that mercy—to beg you to forgive me.

"Forgive you—I. . . ? Molly made a faint, incredulous motion toward herself."Yes. That day when you came—I didn't understand. I was vicious, brutal—mad with jealousy.""You jealous. . . ? She made another incredulous movement. "Oh, no, I—that woman.""You needn't have been. You know there's never been anybody but you—
there's never been anybody but you—
one thing that hardened my heart against you—you knew there could-

to forgive me."

"Oh no, it is you who must forgive."

. . . But how?

He touched the band of crepe on his sleeve. "My mother—she went all at once like a tree with the ax laid to the root. She told me. I think she wanted to tell me sooner, but she didn't know how.""Your mother—she told you. . .
Molly was silent with the wonder of that. Then, "Greg, you mustn't think I'm not guilty—just as guilty as you believed me—only I didn't know it was my own stubborn, headstrong will. Tonight for the first time I've seen it all clearly.""Never mind about that. After all, I wasn't your going—or the reason given—that hurt most. It was your not letting me help you. I knew what it was like for a woman of your sort alone in a great city. I used to sit and picture it to myself—the hardships, privations, hunger perhaps. . . . It was torture. For years I tried to find you. Then that day when you came into my office, I thought you had what you wanted—all you wanted.""I thought maybe you—pitted me a little."Molly caught his big square hands in hers, covered them with penitent kisses, with hot, self-revelling tears. "You're so much bigger than I am, Greg—always so much finer and more generous. I'm ashamed to tell you—I didn't realize even that that

MORE ABOUT CANADIAN IDEALS

Someone has told an eastern paper that more than half the children in Western Canada are of foreign extraction. We do not believe it, but let the statement pass. The eastern paper is shocked and expresses its fears as to means being taken to Canadianize these offspring of our "enemies," thus "conserving Canadian ideals."

We are strong for the Canadianization of foreigners resident in Western Canada, just as we would like to see some native born Canadians more Canadian in their ideals. At the same time we fail to see any cause for hysteria over the situation. Even if a majority of western children are of foreign extraction it has to be shown to us that western young people-child for child, are any less Canadian in their ideals than are the children of eastern Canada.

The truth of the matter is that there is some confusion as to what constitutes the correct code of ideals for Canada. We know pretty well what it should be in theory, but find too frequently that in practice it is something quite different. And when it comes to disregard of what should be our ideals, we must regretfully report that offenders are as frequently found among our own people, east and west, as among newcomers from foreign lands.

RESOURCES CASE NOT ON AGENDA

The Alberta resources reference to the supreme court of Canada will probably not be argued until the February sittings of the court. The reference has not been included in the session of the court now in progress. Eugene Lafleur, K.C., and Hon. Lucien Cannon, solicitor-general, will prepare the argument and present it on behalf of the Dominion government when the court decides to hear it. The case arose when the proposition was made to hand back to the province of Alberta her natural resources. Some question then arose as to the constitutionality of the school provision of the Autonomy Act of 1905.

ONE MORE WEEK WILL SEE THRESHING COMPLETED

The favorable conditions of the past week has seen a big clean-up of this season's threshing, and if no further delays are met with it will be only a matter of a few days before all cleaned up in another week or ten days. Several of the outfits have now wound up their season and have pulled the machines home, while those still at work have only two or three more jobs to thresh out. Although practically all of this season's grain has been tough, the yield has been fairly satisfactory, taking into consideration the adverse weather conditions, and taken all round the average for the district will be almost as high as was expected.

Summer Fish Catch Good

The summer fish catch on Lesser Slave Lake, was good according to R. T. Rodd, Dominion fisheries inspector at Edmonton, who states that more than 650,000 lbs. of white fish were taken out of the lake, with 468,711 lb. of pickerel, 310,162 lb. of pike, and smaller quantities of other fish.

Completing Gravelled Highways
A completed gravelled highway from Edmonton to the international boundary by the end of 1927 is a possibility, according to the program of the provincial highway department. The completion of the gravelled highway from Edmonton to Calgary will be carried out next summer, and the completion of the road south from Calgary to the boundary, some of which has already been gravelled will be made next year too, if possible.

TO ECONOMIZE ON GASOLINE

Should two cars of the same year and model be driven over a hundred mile course each would show a totally different gasoline consumption at the end of the trip.

Why? Because no two drivers operate a car alike. Jones, for instance, drives his boat along at a certain steady speed, while Brown likes to cover ground in spurts. Naturally then, Jones gets more mileage than Brown.

But driving a car economically is just one half the dollar battle. The good driver also sees that all gas joints are tight, that his engine is sweet running and free from carbon and that the carburetor is economical. And you would be surprised to learn how many dollars a car owner saves a year by paying attention to these little details.

Great progress has been made in the last few years in carburetion and intake manifold construction. It is an actual fact that some cars today get a better gasoline mileage on low-grade gasoline than cars achieved on high-test gasoline ten years ago.

The carburetion system is not the only location to look for fuel leaks. If the ignition system is not up to par, the engine will waste fuel. There is little doubt that the battery, if it is not getting a correct fuel mixture still at work have only two or three more jobs to thresh out. Although Carbon in the engine's cylinder will waste more fuel than will be thought possible. By cutting down the proper output of the engine carburetor the use of an excessive amount of fuel.

The clutch, if slipping, may become a terrible waster of fuel. Misaligned wheels are another source of power losses. When the wheels are out of correct alignment, a dragging motion is set up and some of the engine's power goes to produce this drag which, by the way, is one of the most potent causes of tire wear.

Dragging brakes waste power, yet brake adjustment is so simple that there is little excuse for this.

Finally, the car owner may conserve his fuel by the way in which he drives his car. Long fueling periods eat up a lot of gasoline, that has performed no useful function. The driver would learn to set his throttle and spark on long runs and plug along at a steady gait.

Motor sense is gasoline dollars poured into the tank.

THE EXAMINER'S WEEKLY REVIEW OF PROV. MARKETS

CATTLE

BEEF—Under increased shipments from the country, prices at Edmonton held steady. Choice heavy steers went from $3@5.50; choice light $2.25@3.50; good $4.75@5.1; medium $4@4.50; common $3.25@3.75. Choice heifers $4.75@5.1; good $4@4.50. Choice $4@4.25; good $3.50@3.75; medium $2.75@3.25; common $2.25@2.50; canners $1.75@2. Choice bulls $3@3.25; medium $2.50@2.75; canners from $1.75 up. Choice light calves $6@7; common $2@4. FEEDERS, STOCKERS—Trading was fairly brisk, feeders bringing $3@4.50; stock steers $2.25@2.50; stock heifers $2.25@3.25; stock cows $2.25@2.75.

HOGS

Edmonton market dropped to $12 for thick smolohs, off cars. Usual 10 per cent premium.

GRAIN

Harvesting is drawing to a close in many parts of the province now and the grain is reported to be grading very well.

CREAM—BUTTER—CHEESE

CREAM—Low receipts are still being reported as harvesting is under way again and production is falling off. No price changes are reported. CREAMERY BUTTER — Market holding at unchanged levels. Montreal quotes 31c for No. 1 pasteurized.

COAST market has not an extra large supply, but offers have been received from Australian and New Zealand shippers of 335c (f.o.b. Vancouver).

DAIRY BUTTER — Receipts very light and some of country grocers have had to have shipments of creamery butter sent to them for their trade. Prices held at unchanged levels.

CHEESE—Montreal market believed to be slightly lower, but this has had no effect on local prices.

POULTRY — EGGS

POULTRY—Jobbers report that they have found receipts a little lighter during the past week, as many farmers are busy threshing. Prices held steady with a good demand prevailing. No shipments have been made west during past week as there were just enough birds handled for local trade.

EGGS—Fresh eggs have been very scarce during the week, but this has not caused any alteration in the price of fresh or storage hen fruit.

B.C. pullet eggs saw their first appearance on the local market this season, and although they are small they are said to be a very good sample of B.C. product. They are held at $14.50@15 per case to the trade.

POTATOES

Local offerings are bringing from $20@22 per ton delivered. Receipts have been liberal, but good demand is cleaning up stocks steadily. Vauxhall offerings being quoted at $37@38 per ton. B.C. supplies at same prices to trade. Trading in these offerings is not large as there is too great a difference in price between them and ordinary Albertas.

THE OLD RELIABLE

Use Gillette's Eye to MAKE YOUR OWN SOAP and for cleaning and DISINFECTING

Gillette's Eye Protects Your Health and Saves Your Money

HAY—GREENFEED

HAY—With the continuance of harvesting has come a lull in the offerings of hay. No change is reported in prices. The demand is good and at times dealers are hard pressed to find receipts to fill orders. OATS—Price ranges from 52@55c; demand is large but there is a shortage of supplies. GREENFEED—Very little is being handled in this line. Best of supplies will be that which was cut before the last bad weather. Demand is fairly brisk.

OLD LOCAL OPTION LAW TO BE USED

TORONTO—Hon. W. H. Price, attorney-general, explaining that a municipality under the liquor policy which the present cabinet is proposing, will have its "dryness" or "wetness" determined by its condition under the local option law in 1916, when the Ontario Temperance Act came into force. The vote of the municipalities in the plebiscites held since that time will not be used as the basis.

At the time when the O.T.A. became law, 33 municipalities in the province were under local option, 47 were dry under the Canada Temperance Act; in 163 no licenses were issued, and in 309 licenses were issued.

$100,000 BEQUEST MARK OF GRATITUDE

TORONTO—John Wm. James, a fireman of this city, is reported as having received a bequest of more than $100,000 as a mark of gratitude for his part in saving a baby during the wreck of the Titanic, 14 years ago. The grant is stated to have been made in the will of the baby's grandmother, who died recently. Mr. James has resigned his position and is in New York with his lawyers.

B.C. SALMON PACK BREAKS ALL PAST RECORDS IN 1926

VANCOUVER—Salmon packs in British Columbia canneries this year have broken all records, the office of J. A. Motherwell, chief inspector of fisheries announced.

A total of 1,794,802 cases of salmon has been packed in 1926 up to the present as compared with 1,720,620 cases in 1925 and 1,747,505 cases in 1924. Roughly estimated at an average value of $7 a case, this season's salmon pack is worth about $12,500,000.

Notice to our patrons—The Brunner Service Station has now discontinued the sale of "Pep" gasoline only. Imperial company's gas handled from now on. Stop and get a fill at the corner of Third and Main.

HAPPENINGS OF LOCAL INTEREST

BORN.—To Mr. and Mrs. Geo. McLean, of Fabyan, on October 25th, a boy.

Friday next, October 27th, is Canada's National Fish Day.

We learn that in answer to a special invitation from the congregation here, Rev. G. Pybus of the United church will preach the anniversary services at the United church at Empress, Alta., on Sunday, November 7th. Rev. Dr. Miller, of Edmonton will fill the pulpit here for that day.

Drive with safety and pleasure. "Artie Water" will not freeze at 60 below. Get it at Wainwright Pharmacy.

Mrs. Russell Long, with her son, Wainwright, is here from Moose Jaw on a visit to her sister, Mrs. W. Huntington, for a short visit.

Don't forget! The special cop will catch you if you don't watch out! Halloween prank players take note.

We will do your gas fitting, or we will sell you gas fixtures. Or will sell you fixtures and install them too.—John Chapman, the gas man, Second avenue. Prices reasonable.

Messrs. Cuthbertson, Montgomery and Gregson, left on Sunday's train to the city. They are on the Supreme court jury this week.

The Detroit basketball girls, who are out to take the world's title from the Commercial Grads. of Edmonton (if possible) this week, went through here on the National on Sunday.

Mr. W. Misener, the well known piano tuner of Edmonton will be in town early in November. Leave your order at The Star office if your piano wants attention.

Read the Gas Bylaw notice, and make your application early.

After a couple of weeks on business in the city, Mr. C. Klingerman returned home on Saturday last.

The monthly meeting of the W.C.T.U. will be held at the home of Mrs. J. Cuthbertson tomorrow (Thursday) at 3 p.m. when a full attendance is hoped for.

See Armstrong's sale advertising on page 5 for extra values in winter goods.

The provincial elections for the province of Ontario are to be held on December 1st next.

Mr. A. Dupre is away to Edmonton on business for a day or two.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker, who have been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Star Baker north of town for several weeks left for the long motor drive to their home in Toronto last week end.

Farmers: When you haul in your grain, take out a load of coal from the Atlas Lumber Co. Chinook, Black Diamond and Newcastle keep the best for the winter.

The Rev. Father Lemaire is in the city for a few days.

Private Christmas and New Year Greeting Cards at The Star office. The samples can be seen here and the prices are moderate. Keep your money at home!

Taxpayers are reminded that the five per cent. discount period will expire at 6 p.m. on Monday next. A word to the wise should be sufficient!

Look up the Council's Halloween advt. on page 3 and be governed accordingly.

Just pure water chemically treated; that's "Artie Water" Guaranteed non-explosive, non-inflammable; cannot injure the radiator. $1.75 per gal. at Wainwright Pharmacy.

Mr. H. P. Mackenzie, who was until recently in charge of the Imperial lumber yard, left on Saturday with his wife and family for Edmonton.

Mr. M. Forster is this week driving his new Chrysler coach which he has purchased from the Brunker service station.

Get a load of "Chinook" the best Edmonton coal; from the Atlas yard.

The gasfitting at the Wainwright hotel is now finished. Mr. J. Chapman having completed the job last week.

Threshing in the Auburndale district is now practically completed. The crop on the average was very good, and in some places went as high as 45 bushels to the acre.

Mr. F. Cope, a former resident here was in town on business last week end.

Read Armstrong's full page advt. on page 5 for big savings in groceries and dry goods.

Mrs. Ernest Stafford, who is on her way home to Sauk, Wash., stopped off for a day or two to visit friends here.

After attending to some business connected with her property here Mrs. Jim Ward has now returned home to the city.

Order your storm sash and doors NOW, so that we can get them made for you in our up-to-date factory at Calgary right away.—Atlas yard, Joe Welch, phone 57.

Mr. Geo. Reed has now rented a house in town for the winter, and will be moving the family in from the farm right away so that the children can be nearer school.

A very pleasant time was spent at the home of Mrs. T. Bisson last week the occasion being a linen and china shower for two brides of the coming month. These two young ladies are Miss Theresa Rajotte and Miss Bernadette Tremblay.

All kinds of Halloween novelties at Wainwright Pharmacy.

To pay a visit to Mrs. Wm. Stuart's brother, Bill motored the whole family over to Halkirk on Sunday last. He reports a dandy trip and no trouble.

Three here's Lien Note Books at The Star office. Now in.
